

NCBS
ANNUAL TALKS

What does the word, “Design” mean to a neuroscientist or a structural biologist? What is, “Change” for a microbiologist and an ecologist? What do these words mean to you?

Join us as we explore the terms we use to define the natural world, and the way we interpret the same words in multiple ways. Hear about the latest research from the scientists at the National Centre for Biological Sciences, and listen to fascinating guest speakers from around the world.

Come listen to the Language of Biology.